

Summary Of Result Obtained.

There is drop initially for both 20 Days MA and 50 Days MA which keep on changing after every 50 -60 days sometimes even earlier for all the six stock.

But 20 Days MA is more responsive to price changes, as the value drop and rise are changing sharply with close price.

Whereas 50 Days MA is less responsive to price change and shows smoothness instead of being sharp with close price changes.

Hence, when 20 Days MA crosses 50 Days MA it's shows trend is changing and give us the logic signal to buy or sell for all the six stock being more responsive to close price whereas in case if we have neglected the decimal change than in many a time when both moves together is the signal for hold.
